

Fewer Kingston Infants Died In 1934

New York, Nov. 14 (Special).—Approximately 54 of every 1,000 live babies born to Kingston parents died before reaching their first birthday, according to a study of infant mortality during the year 1934 made by the American Child Health Association. This figure represents a marked improvement over the 1933 rate of 62 such deaths per 1,000 births.

The death rate among children less than a year old in 1934 in 985 of the larger cities of the United States was 58.1, slightly higher than the previous two years. The 70 New York cities studied, however, showed a decreasing proportion with 53 deaths per 1,000 births in 1933 and 52 last year. The average for all cities in Kingston's population group, 25,000 to 50,000, was 60.8 in 1933 and 61.2 in 1934.

Conclusive evidence is not available as to the exact cause of the national rise in infant mortality, according to the association's report, "but it is reasonable to assume that the reductions in public health effort, resulting from the curtailment of budgets for health departments, is a contributing factor." Any city's rate, says the report, depends upon such factors as family customs of different racial and nationality groups, climatic conditions, social and economic status and the amount of modern medical and public health service available.

Philathea Class.

The Philathea class of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will hold its November meeting on Monday evening at the church. All members are requested to be present.

EGYPTIANS RIOT AGAINST BRITISH RULE

Several Egyptians were killed and many wounded in rioting that broke out at Cairo against English domination. Fuel for the flames was added by Nahaas Pasha (left), former prime minister and leader of the independence movement, who criticized the British rule. Top, center, is a view of Cairo, and below, a scene of previous rioting against Britain. Observers held that King Fuad (right), would have a difficult time quelling the disorders. Glee Club Concert at Clinton Ave. Church

The Catskill Glee Club of over 50 singers, under direction of Roland E. Heernance, will give its annual concert in the auditorium of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, Kingston, Monday evening, December 9.

For many years the Catskill Glee Club has been giving its annual entertainment at the Clinton Avenue Church. The church is always filled to capacity for the event and doubtless this year will prove no exception.

Besides the chorus singing the club has several excellent soloists who will take part in the program. Charles G. Hageley, the well known musician, will also appear with the club.

There has never been any admission charged for these concerts and all music lovers of Kingston are asked to keep the date in mind.

Mannerchor Dance.

Saturday evening, November 16, Rondout Social Mannerchor will hold a dance at their rooms, Strand and Hasbrouck avenue. The committee in charge has secured the former Hofbrau orchestra, Markey at the drums, Smith at piano and Singing Sam on the saxophone. This trio has been playing together for the past three years at the Hofbrau. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock.

Babe Ruth Stopped As Hit-Run Motorist

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—Babe Ruth engaged in a hit-and-run play—quite innocently, he explained later—and reached home only after police had thrust a high-powered rifle into his face.

His automobile struck another in Rego Park, Queens, last night as the king of swat was returning from a game of golf. He decided the blow was a bunt instead of foul and chose to run it out.

Much to his surprise, the police were waiting for him when he crossed the Queensboro bridge into Manhattan.

"Signal 32, signal 32," the police radio announcer had broadcast. "Stop car IN72-35 heading for New York. Likely to cross Queensboro Bridge any moment. Signal 32."

"Signal 32" means, "Proceed with caution. Quarry may be dangerous."

Hence the rifle reception. The Babe stepped from his car, hands in the air. The covering patrolman recognized him and gasped.

Max Katz of Laurelton, owner of the car which Ruth struck, had not recognized him and had notified police a hit-run motorist had struck his car.

Ruth, taken to a precinct station, waited until Katz arrived. A private conversation, an agreement to settle any damages and a handshake followed. Then Ruth went home.

Natural Gypsum Rock Is Also Known as Alabaster

Gypsum is probably best known to the average man as plaster of paris. Crush gypsum rock as it comes from the mine, heat it to drive out about three-quarters of the moisture in it and this familiar cement results. Mix it with small stones and a binding material and one has stucco. The name, incidentally, comes from the famous Montmartre deposits near Paris, says Science Service.

Natural gypsum rock is also known as alabaster, when in the massive granular form. Easily carved, it has been for ages a favorite for jewelry and statuary.

Most gypsum beds have been formed by the evaporation of water from salt lakes or the arms of the sea. Commonly they occur along with salt beds which originated in the same manner.

Gypsum, however, is much more widespread than salt, for it will deposit out of sea water after 37 per cent of the water has evaporated, while 99 per cent of sea water must evaporate before the salt in it will be deposited.

Synthetic gypsum is superior to the natural product in many respects. Because of the high temperature of the reaction of which it is a by-product, and because strong sulphuric acid is used to produce the reaction, all impurities except a minute trace of harmful silica are removed.

The Technical Knockout

A technical knockout is registered when a referee does not actually count out the fighter. In most cases a technical knockout is in reality a real knockout as far as punishment is concerned. Oftentimes when a brawler thinks his fighter has absorbed enough punishment and can only endanger life and limb if he continues, he throws in a towel as a signal of surrender. That is a technical knockout defeat because the referee has not actually counted him out. Sometimes a fighter may be abbed on points and accidentally sprain an ankle or throw an elbow out of joint and is unable to go on. In this case a technical knockout victory is conceded his opponent.

Clinton Chapter Honors Two Members

Clinton Chapter, No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star, honored two of its members who were recently appointed to high offices with a reception on Friday evening, November 8. Miss Alice M. Scardfield, grand matron, appointed Mrs. Edna L. Van Tassel one of the grand chaplains of the Grand Chapter, State of New York, and Miss Mary J. Howard was appointed district deputy of the Green-Triple district. The chapter room was filled to its capacity with members of the chapter and visitors from other chapters throughout the district.

Mrs. Edna L. Van Tassel was introduced by Mrs. Bertha M. Bayer, who acted as grand marshal for the evening, and Miss Mary J. Howard was presented by Mrs. Ethel M. Jones, acting associate grand marshal. Mrs. Mathilde M. Hobush, worthy matron of Clinton Chapter, welcomed both to their home chapter. The two honored guests were also greeted with a song of welcome by Mrs. Laura S. Winters.

A large number of present and past grand officers were presented also, among them being Miss Alice M. Scardfield, grand matron, and her mother, Mrs. Georgina Scardfield, grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter.

A degree, "The Rainbow of Promise," was presented by the chapter officers for Mrs. Van Tassel and Miss Howard, and in the traditional manner each found a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow filled with gifts from chapter and friends. This degree presented a beautiful scene with the officers gowned in white with scarfs of rainbow hues and carrying arches also of rainbow hues.

During the evening a program of entertainment was given consisting of trumpet solos by Miss Shirley Doyle, toe dancing by Miss Ball, and vocal solos by Douglas Kennedy.

Addresses were made by the two honored guests of the evening and a number of other grand officers present.

The Utah liquor commission reported a net profit of $98,933 for the first four months of operation of state liquor stores.

Supervisor Haynes, that there be raised on the town of Herdenville the sum of $1,000 for the general fund for general town purposes; the sum of $300 for welfare fund to be expended for welfare purposes.

The above resolutions went over under the rule and the board adjourned until Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman in Rochester Today

Mayor C. J. Heiselman was called to Rochester today to attend an important meeting of the advisory committee of the State Mayor's Conference to be held in the office of Mayor Stanton in that city.

One of the important matters to be taken up at the conference today was relative to the distribution of the revenue from the gasoline and motor taxes in the state.

In the call for the meeting today it was stated that the most important subject to be discussed will be that of financing unemployment relief by the municipalities. State Director Daniels of the TERA and Lester Hertzog, head of the State WPA have been invited to meet with the committee to discuss this problem.

Mayors' Meeting Postponed

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—Postponement of a meeting of the advisory committee of the state conference of mayors scheduled for today was announced at 10 o'clock this morning by Charles Stanton, of Rochester. In announcing the postponement because of a conflict with the ceremonies inducting Dr. Alan Chester Valentine as fourth president of the University of Rochester, Mayor Stanton said the meeting would be held tomorrow.

COLLEGE PACIFISM
The advice given students by President Ernest Hatch Wilkins of Oberlin College may distress or anger some sincere pacifists, but it sounds like good sense to many others. Students are being asked to sign pledges promising that they will never go to war under any circumstances. President Wilkins advises them not to sign such pledges at all, or to do so only after facing all the implications and possibilities. Wilkins himself is a nationally known pacifist, a founder of the Oberlin Peace Society, and an intelligent worker for peace. His objections to the student pledges is that they are not cooperative. He says:
The attitude of the colleges toward the government in the matter of peace ought to be cooperative. If the pledge were taken by any such number as to lead the government to think that the attitude expressed were characteristic of the colleges, the governmental conclusion, unfair but inevitable, would be that colleges are hostile, that they are in fact "hotbeds of sedition," and that any peace proposal emanating from a college source or supported by a college representative is suspected and undesirable.
The attitude of the American college and its students toward peace, "should be primarily intelligent, not primarily emotional; deliberate, not impulsive; realistic, not naive; not defeatist, but creative." That may be a hard dose for enthusiastic young folks, eager to bring the millennium of peace right now. But if they understand it and adopt it, they can do more to prevent war and promote peace than by the blanket pledge.

END OF EL
New York's municipal government is taking up seriously the question of abolishing the Sixth Avenue Elevated. It probably comes with surprise to the average New Yorker that such a proposal should be considered possible. That particular horror of sight and sound has been there so long that it has come to be regarded as a basic part of Manhattan Island.
If there ever was any good reason for building the monstrosity, it exists no longer. The El passengers can be carried by the surface cars, buses and tunnels. The investment represented in the overhead structure, Mayor LaGuardia says, can be wiped out by a bond issue, to be retired by taxes on the higher valuation of adjacent property when the structure is removed. Here is an illuminating hint on the damage such a transportation line may do to a city. Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities suffering from similar evils will be interested in this example.

WINE AS FOOD
Paul Garrett of New York, described as the "dean of American wine-growers," wants our native table wines taken out of the alcoholic liquor class and treated as food. If this were done, he says, and the fermented grape juice were accordingly freed from the usual liquor tax, "sound, wholesome American table wines, now sold at 75 cents to $1 a bottle, could be profitably marketed at 25 to 40 cents a bottle."
He insists that the alcohol in such beverages is not the primary thing, that it serves merely as a preservative, and the nourishing content is more important. He emphasizes, as wine men usually do, the alleged benefits to digestion from drinking such light wines with meals. Two of our states, North Carolina and Georgia, are said to have taken action along this line. It might become a general practice some time. But there is still to be done in the way of such a policy in dry states, and even in many states not legally dry.

PRECIOUS METALS
With nearly all the nations off the gold basis, and now with China coming off silver and locking it up, it begins to look pretty bad for the "precious metals" used for money since the beginning of civilization. Talk of a general return to gold by international agreement has died down lately. Half the world's monetary gold has flowed into the United States Treasury, and the flood still continues coming, but arouses less enthusiasm here and apparently less worry abroad. Foreign countries seem to be getting the habit of using "managed currency" for a medium of exchange. Uncle Sam, with his Treasury vaults jammed with gold, has taken to burying it in the ground.

Is it possible that gold and silver, for which so many millions of men have fought and bled and died through the ages, will end in the ground where it came from, while mankind develops some other medium of exchange? However that may be, the "precious" metals are no longer the traditional ones. Platinum and several other rare metals are more valuable today. Such common metals as iron, brass and tin have long been more vital to civilization. Aluminum, chromium, magnesium and other new industrial metals grow steadily more important.

That Body of Yours

NEURASTHENIA
Neurasthenia—being always tired mentally and physically—is not an "imaginary" but a real ailment and requires the same careful treatment as any other ailment.
The symptoms consist of tiredness on the slightest mental or physical effort, lack of concentration, irritability, mental depression, weak will power, lack of confidence and judgment. Sleeplessness unfortunately often accompanies the ailment and thus causes more tiredness and irritability. There may be fears of various kinds, headache like a band around the skull, dizziness, backache, pressure over stomach, palpitation of the heart. Mental ability is usually good aside from the tiredness. This condition is usually inherited from "nervous" parents, and becomes noticeable when the individual has to face life's problems.
On the other hand anyone in normal health and born of normal parents can acquire neurasthenia. If placed under an abnormal emotional strain—worry, shock, overwork mental and physical, shock from an injury.
It is in cases of neurasthenia that physicians sometimes make the mistake of telling the patient that there is nothing wrong with him and that he should "go home and forget it." It is true that there may be no organic trouble present, but there is trouble present just the same and it is the physician's duty to try to locate the trouble and remove it from the patient's mind.
The first thought then is a thorough examination—heart, lungs, kidneys, blood vessels, digestion, teeth, tonsils, gall bladder, blood—so that when completed the physician and the patient are fully aware that no organic trouble exists. Without a complete examination the patient might easily persuade himself that there was some organic trouble.
The next step is to acquire a complete history of the patient's life, his family history, his daily habits, the things he likes or dislikes, his difficulties, his ambitions, his inability or ability to realize these ambitions. The physician then tries to have the patient "adjust" himself to his abilities and circumstances, letting the patient do the adjusting himself.
The third step is rest or sleep—a few hours extra daily; adjusting the diet by cutting down on tea, coffee, or liquor; physical exercise of stated amount; and using the brain a part of the day in some form of mental or physical work.

IN EAST FRONIA
Kornelberg, Germany (AP)—Soldiers are all the rage in East Prussia, especially in little garriotte towns.
"The new army brings back prestige" is a common phrase.
Mohrungen, a small town near here, expressed its joy over becoming a garriotte town by offering $200 for the first wedding of a soldier with a town girl.
Young recruits are given ample chances to meet famous-haired local beauties at "garriotte ball festivals" and other "welcome dances."
England's Road Traffic Growers
London (AP)—Highway traffic in England has increased by close to 50 per cent in the year. The British Automobile Association said after a survey conducted for seven days at important centers.

HIGH COURAGE
by Jeanne Bowman.

Chapter 37
THE TRIAL BEGINS
"JOHN," Anne spoke his name timidly, "how is he?"
"Better now."
"You mean he's been ill?"
Tacia looked at Anne in surprise. "Ill? You should know."
"What do you mean?"
"Why," Tacia threw her hands out as though the gesture would explain, "at your bedside he stayed until you were safe, then away he went, no body knows where I think maybe he left you."
"John, here at the hospital?"
"Yes, you call for him?"
A faint flush tinted the pallor of Anne's cheeks, but he came unwillingly. If not, why had he gone away?
"I must have been delirious," she murmured and thought, that presence I felt must have been John. What could he have thought of her?

The morning after the trial.

"Tacia, you said he was better, what did you mean by that?"
"Worried he was. He's like your trouble and sickness all his fault. He says like I do, he would keep you from all hurt, then he do this to you."
"And he's gone away? Don't you know where? Doesn't his mother know?"
Tacia shrugged her shoulders. "She says something about he go for a boat."
Anne nodded. Yes, he had thought of buying a trawler with his Alaska money. The nurse interrupted here and Anne, questions begging to be answered at her lips, was forced to see the little woman led reluctantly to the door.
Anne lay staring at the wall John had gone away. He hadn't waited to see how her trial had come out. Oh, he had been loyal, standing by her during her illness, but the moment she was past the danger line he had gone on with his life, forgetting her.
SUDDENLY a sharp pain caught at her heart.
John thought she was guilty.
John, who knew everything from the way the Lee Farnsworths had treated her to the very details of the will, thought she had sought revenge in this way.
Did Tacia and Lilia think this too? Even Orvi and George couldn't be sure they weren't outside with her, in the boat. They didn't know whether or not she had carried a gun.
Dark swept into the room; through the opened window came the far rumble of traffic in the street below, the dank, sweet odor of river willows, the milky tang of the sea. The window was an oblong of blue, in which hung a single star.
Gaze concentrated on that star, Anne reached the lowest point of her life. There was nothing left, nothing but the courage which sprang from belief in herself.
Days passed, each one fraught with fresh sorrow. There was the lawyer her Finnish friends had retained, but she knew she could not

Corn and Soybeans.
The combination of corn and soybeans for silage is highly recommended to New York state dairymen.
Increased production, increased silage, the need of less concentrates, and the addition of another income to the cropping system are all cited as benefits that will come from the practice.
A new Cornell bulletin tells what to do and what has been learned about corn and soybeans for silage.

A Washington Daybook
By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Records of personal experiences and observations of the men who have had their hour as public officials in Washington, are nothing new. There have been scores of such personal documents written by the great and near-great after they have quit the Washington scene.
One such record, however, has made its appearance here which is attracting more than casual interest. It is entitled, "Notes as Vice President," written by Charles G. (Hollis) Daves.
Jotted down at odd moments "on the run," some of them written while Daves was riding on trains, others while he was forced to listen to interminable debates while presiding over the senate, "Notes as Vice President" affords an excellent insight on the job once described by "Cactus Jack" Garner as the "fifth wheel" of the government.
Daves' account on the rules of the senate in his inaugural address as vice president was one of the highlights of his tenure of office. He failed in his efforts to curb filibusters and stop other dilatory tactics of senators, much to his chagrin and discomfiture.
'Senate Slipping'
"WHAT was on March 4, 1925. On 1 July 19, 1925, he wrote in his notes" that "The senate, because of its rules, is steadily losing its power to act constructively for the nation; and in proportion as the bloc system grows abuses will be more frequent under the rules."
On the same day he noted "the deteriorating parliamentary personnel due in this country to the direct primary." This results in the election of senators "who measured

Talks to Parents
Shop Early

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Mary's heart was set on a baby doll. She wrote to Santa Claus about it weeks before Christmas, and prepared a basketette for it to sleep in with all the care and forethought of an expectant mother. She knew exactly what size it would be, and even had ideas about the color of its eyes and hair.
When Christmas came the doll was there, but not a baby. It was a beautiful doll, exquisitely dressed, but wrong in every particular, and Mary's disappointment was pathetic, though she tried bravely to hide it.
Parents, and even more, outsiders like aunts and uncles and friends, are too apt at choosing gifts for children to follow their own predilections and forget the child's wishes. The baby doll probably filled some need in Mary at the time, and every effort should have been made to see that she got it.
Sometimes, of course, family finances make the giving of luxuries for Christmas impossible. The child can understand this. She, like the rest of the family, must submit to what cannot be helped. But very often it is simply a lack of imagination or unwillingness to take trouble or give time which is responsible for her disappointment. At the last moment someone remembers, "Merry! I forgot Mary's doll!" and a doll is bought with entire disregard of the little girl's expressed desires.
True, life is like that, and the child might as well learn it soon as late. But when parents have it in their power to answer a prayer satisfactorily, why not use a little foresight and imagination to do so? The public is exhorted to shop early and so help the salespeople, but it is also a good plan to shop early so as to give their hearts' desire to the children.

Buchanan (AP)—Vladimir revealed that "undercover-men" caused the death of 11 men and seven women here in Romania's capital in September. One of the starvation victims was a farmer who came in search of work and food after drought ruined his crops.

Sundown Stories
Drying Off

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
OH, WHAT a night they spent. They got rags and pails and they tried to keep the rain from doing too much damage. The ducks were splendid the way they held out their wings to catch the water, and they kept up the spirits of the others with their pleasant happy quacking.
The bears did not seem to mind the rain and went back to sleep again, sometimes waking up when it struck their faces.
It looked, in the early morning light, as though the rain would keep up for another day and the Puddle Muddlers felt discouraged, but Christopher flew back with the news that the wind had changed its direction, and that it looked as though it would clear.
Christopher was right. As quickly as the rain had started it stopped, and soon the sun came forth.
"We'd better all get dry, and let the room dry out before I repair the roof," said Willy Nilly.
So they all went and sat in the sunshine; and ran races with each other to get warm while the sun poured into the room upstairs and did a good job of drying it up.
"We had meant to do much work for you," sighed Jelly Bear, and we caused you more trouble than ever. We certainly got every thing into a muddle."
"And there are plenty of puddles around," quacked the ducklings who were playing happily in every one they found.
"Yes, this place is well named Puddle Muddle," smiled Willy Nilly, "but you bears did try to help me. That's a good deal. Now for our presents."

LAKE KATRINE
Lake Katrine, Nov. 14.—Mrs. William Hooley entertained the following guests at a reunion dinner in honor of Mr. Hooley's birthday: Mr. Hooley and daughter, Natalie; Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Boice and daughter, Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. David Kieffer; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lachman; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Aken; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keator and Junior.
Auley Roosa had the misfortune to injure his foot while walking in the Adirondacks last week.
Mrs. Hugh Ferguson is spending a few days in Portsmouth, N. H.
Miss Jane Nichols entertained recently a little company of young people at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols. Those attending were Lester and Harold Fulton, William Loria, Edgar, Sheehan of Ruby, Walter Roosa, Edith Jane and William Roosa, Roger Sande, Gordon Lewis and Stella Boice, Katherine and Willard Stoll, Mrs. Annabel Stanley of Lake Katrine, Miss Mildred Lachman of Elletts City, Delaware Clinton and Ethel Turk, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turk of Kingston, Anna Krensch of Sonoma, Alice Benton of Southampton. All reported a glorious good time.

Mrs. Rose Dymond called on her sister, Mrs. Dymond of Upper Monticello Tuesday.
Conversations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. T. Nelson on the arrival of a young son.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

The most densely crowded block in this teeming city, as determined in a study made by the mayor's committee on city planning, of which Bernard S. Deutch, president of the board of aldermen, is chairman, is not down on the lower East Side but up in Harlem. In it live 8,871 persons—a population equal to that of many a thriving community. The most crowded block lies between Lenox and Seventh avenues and One Hundred and Forty-second and One Hundred and Forty-third streets. It presents a solid brick front, with now and then a dingy opening leading to a littered back yard. Most of the tenements date back to the previous century. Windows look out on those trashy yards or into kitchens, with only the more fortunate having a view of the street. Since dumb waiters are seldom in working order, the shafts are used as garbage chutes.

With the exception of a few small shopkeepers, the population of the most crowded block is colored. The average wage of a colored man is $20 a week. The average rental in Harlem is $85 a month. That means boarders and roomers and doubling up. Hence, the reason why the most crowded block is in Harlem. More than half the residents, however, are on relief. Having nothing to do, they loiter about the fronts of the buildings or sit in little dark rooms. Mothers go out to work when they can find employment. Children go to school with keys of their homes around their necks. After school, no one being at home to look after them, they play in streets and alleys. What that may mean in the future is not a pleasant thought.

Occasionally, even in mad Manhattan, the more humble receives recognition when they pass on. For instance, Nicholas Zupo. He was only a poor-black, yet government employees and newspaper men attended his funeral services. For 40 years, he had been the official shoe shiner of the Barge office, which houses customs men, Coast guardsmen and ship news reporters. For 25 of those years, he had been the only person licensed to vend goods or personal services in the government buildings in Battery park. To one and all, he was "Nick."

Nick did his work well. He did more than that. If the shoes of a regular patron didn't need a shine, he gave them only a wiping off, for which there was no charge. When he wasn't busy in the Barge office, he went out into the park and picked up stray dimes. By his industry, he laid away a snug little fortune. His costume, summer and winter, consisted of light-weight trousers, a sleeveless blindfold shirt and a cap. But his patrons liked Nick—and those he served went to his funeral.

Mrs. George Bethune Adams, director of the Ellen Price Speyer Hospital for Animals, is eighty-seven years old, yet even the fiercest dog has no terrors for her. Recently when police of the East Fifty-first street station took into custody a large female bulldog, Mrs. Adams was notified. It was one o'clock in the morning, yet she arose and went straight to the station. There she learned that the dog had been captured by putting a long pole under its collar, up setting it and lashing its feet together. The dog was in a cell with cops on guard with revolvers in their hands.

Despite protests, Mrs. Adams went into the cell, spoke to the growling, dog and within a few minutes had won its confidence to such an extent that it willingly rode with her in a taxi to the hospital. And Mrs. Adams won't talk about the incident—it was really nothing, she declared. But I'll bet the faces of those policemen were red when she went away with the animal that had made them draw their guns.

Wins Bankruptcy Discharge. New York, Nov. 14 (Special)—Morris Cohn, formerly in the fruit and produce business at Modena and now employed by Stanley's Orchard, Inc., was discharged from bankruptcy here in United States District Court. Mr. Cohn filed a voluntary petition here last November 26th, giving liabilities of $8,693 and assets of $8,600. The discharge was granted by Judge John C. Knox.

Parent-Teacher Associations

Panel Discussion

Woodstock, Nov. 14.—The panel discussion, "America and the European Crisis," sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association was a great success for audience and participants alike. The six speakers, Dr. Erla Rodakiewicz, Dyrus Cook, Martin Crounse, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schoonmaker, Towar Boggs, led by their chairman, Florence Webster, spoke easily and entertainingly on the vital points of the present situation, its background as well as its future significance. A number of points of conflict were touched upon, the parts held by Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Japan and France. The present foreign policy of the United States and its possible future policies were discussed at some length. The speakers did not agree on all points so the interesting contrast of opinion opened the way for several questions put by members of the audience.

At the close of the evening's program it was agreed by everyone that the experiment in this form of discussion had proved highly successful. The audience left with a promise of more to come, with the library as a possible meeting place.

Mt. Marion

Mt. Marion, Nov. 14.—The Mt. Marion P-T A held its regular meeting at the schoolhouse on November 12, with an attendance of 26 members. The meeting was opened by singing the get-together song, after which Miss Dorothy Briggs told something of the topics and interesting material to be found in the Parent-Teacher magazine and recommended it as a help to both parents and teachers.

The motion was then made and put to vote that the Parent-Teacher Association purchase cups and plates for their use at meetings. Mrs. George Gillison and Mrs. William Werner were appointed a committee of two to purchase said cups and plates before the next meeting.

Miss Isabel Young then gave a short but vitally interesting talk on the value of vitamin A to health. The speaker of the evening, Dr. Charles E. Parsons of Kingston, was then introduced. Dr. Parsons spoke briefly first on the work of the TB committee in Ulster county and the use of Christmas Seals, urging all who could to purchase them. Dr. Parsons was for many years associated with Sir Wilfred Grenfell in his work in Labrador and Newfoundland and spoke interestingly on Newfoundland, sketching first the history and then telling at length of the life and primitive struggle for existence of the Newfoundland fisherman-farmer. Dr. Parsons also told of the founding of hospitals and manner of obtaining medical care in that land. Several beautiful and interesting pictures of icebergs were passed around by Dr. Parsons and were much admired.

Coffee and cake were served at the conclusion of the talk and a social time enjoyed by all.

Lake Katrine

Lake Katrine, Nov. 15.—The regular meeting of the P-T A. was held Tuesday evening with 34 present. It was proposed at the state convention that more interest be shown in the musical part of our programs and Mr. Hookey and Mrs.

Lachman, as leaders, proved themselves as well qualified as the singing was much improved. Mrs. Donald Parish at the piano.

In the absence of the chairman of program, Mrs. Pratt Boice, who, with Mr. Boice were attending the state 4-H meeting at Syracuse, Daniel Morchouse, former secretary, introduced Miss May Lay, town nurse, who gave an interesting account of her work in this field. All were impressed with the loyalty and enthusiasm she is showing in her vocation and enjoyed her talk. A rising vote of thanks was given Miss Lay.

Mrs. G. Parish and Mrs. Lachman were appointed to attend the conference held Wednesday in Saugerties.

Mrs. Anita announced there would be a Thanksgiving service held at the schoolhouse Sunday evening, November 24, at 7:30.

Through the generosity of Mrs. David Kueffer and her committee of the Grange, they are giving up the last Friday evening of this month for the P-T A's annual "Community Frolic" which will be arranged by the ways and means committee.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rupert Everett, Mrs. Fred Sheely and Mrs. Lawrence Winchell.

ELEPHANTS—300 OF 'EM—

IN OIL MAN'S COLLECTION

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—Elephants—big ones, little ones, hosts of them—are beginning to worry G. B. Ames, Tulsa oil man.

The elephant invasion started less than a year ago. His secretary gave him an elephant to place on a what-not. Another worker in the office thought the elephant looked nice and gave him another. Since then he has received an elephant almost every day, and now has nearly 300.

The collection includes miniature elephants made of a wide variety of materials and many from foreign countries.

LEATHER SPORTS CLOTHES

FAVORED IN PARIS

Paris (AP)—Leather sports clothes are a favorite with smart women this fall. The Duchesse de Luynes wears a Molyneux costume which combines a black leather jacket lined with green jersey, a green jersey blouse and a black tweed skirt. A favorite sports costume of the Princesse de Faucigny-Lucinge has a natural chamois jacket and black tweed skirt and is worn with black tweed gloves having chamois on the insides of the hands.

Wore Same Cap 37 Years

Springdale, Ark. (AP)—A. D. Wilson has a new cap—his first in 37 years. "She was a pretty good cap," the farmer commented as he discarded the headgear which he had been wearing since its purchase in Iowa in 1898.

Christmas Cartwheels
Delaware, O.—This city is going on a silver standard. Employers have agreed to pay wages in silver dollars until Christmas.

"The idea," explained the Chamber of Commerce, "is that the bulkiness of the coins will inspire a desire to get rid of them and thus stimulate Christmas shopping."

New York—Mrs. Herbert Hoover has proved herself a westerner.

Visiting headquarters of the Girl Scouts—she is national president—she made a purchase at a cookie sale and tendered a silver dollar in payment.

The girls stared. The cartwheels, they were told, are more common in the west than in the east.

Q. E. D.

Rochester, N. Y.—Things that may nonplus James A. Farley, Democratic state and national chairman, are no enigma to Homer W. Storey, clerk of the Assembly and Monroe county Democratic campaign manager for the last election.

When Philip Dalley, executive secretary for the Monroe Democrats, announced Farley had requested reasons for the Democratic defeat in the county a week ago, Storey observed:

"I can tell him. Too many persons voted the Republican ticket."

High Jinks

San Francisco—A false alarm caused firemen to carry 60-pound extinguishers up the 542 steps to the top of San Francisco's city hall dome—which is 16 feet higher than that of the Capitol at Washington, D. C.

Blondes or Brunettes

Lawrence, Kas.—The first customer of a new "dime date bureau" at the University of Kansas wrote:

"I am an admirer of blondes and brunettes. The girl should have a good personality, be able to carry on an interesting conversation, but not be a gossip. She must have beauty, not too large eyes. She must not be too thin or too fat. No redheads, positively."

Mrs. O.

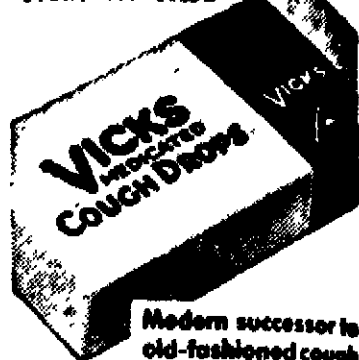

Topeka, Kas.—Ernest L. Newman, county clerk, tells of an elderly negro woman who had been signing relief receipts with her mark. This week, she signed an "O" instead of an "X" explaining: "I've just got married and changed my name."

"I heartily recommend WESSON OIL for boiling vegetables"

"Although I have been a frequent user of Wesson Oil for sometime, it was only this summer that I heard of the new idea of using it in the preparation of vegetables," says Mrs. Elizabeth Baxter of 73 Westmount Avenue, Elmira, New York.

"The flavor of the vegetables was improved, certain elements in the Wesson Oil added energy, and the result was a more nourishing food."

"I have found this to be true with all vegetables and have heartily recommended Wesson Oil for this purpose to my friends."

Here's how you cook vegetables this NEW way — Just boil or steam them and when about half done, add a half a tablespoonful of Wesson Oil for each person to be served.

On each can of Wesson Oil there is a recipe book full of appetizing suggestions for cooking all vegetables with Wesson Oil. Be sure you get it when you buy your can today.

Wesson Oil is a good food — Cooking vegetables with Wesson Oil is just one of the many ways it will help you give your family the nourishment they need.

Texas May Get Million-Acre Park In 'Big Bend' Of The Rio Grande

Fort Davis, Tex., (AP)—Deep in America's last frontier—the Big Bend country of West Texas—lies 1,000,000 acres of rugged beauty apparently destined for a national park.

Across the Rio Grande at the southernmost part of the great bend in the stream, Mexico is planning a 1,000,000-acre park to make it an international show spot.

State and national park leaders recently made preliminary outlines of the desired scenic area on the Texas side. In the party of nine that spent five days in the Big Bend were Col. Conrad L. Wirth, assistant director of the national park service, and D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas state park board. They saw the "scenic million" acres from horseback, motorcar and plane.

Now Deserted
A vast and empty land of broken mountains and canyons, the Big Bend once was the home of the ancient basket maker Indians. Now it is deserted. It has almost no population.

Its peaks and pockets and barren canyons gleam in rainbow colors. The Chisos, a mountain range bearing the name of an Indian word for ghosts, are rugged remnants of one of the oldest parts of the earth's surface, say scientists.

Towering above all is Mount Emory, 7,835 feet above sea level—high for Texas.

Already in the heart of the Chisos lies a state park of 286,000 acres, being molded by CCC workers. The greater park will include this. The state park lies 112 miles from Alpine.

The tentative selection of land takes in not only the Chisos range with its beautiful canyons, but includes the famous Mariscal canyon and Santa Helena canyon—the "grand canyon" of the Rio Grande.

Looking toward the south rim of the Chisos mountains in the Big Bend country of the Rio Grande. This area would be included in the proposed 1,000,000-acre national park.

Authorized By Congress
The area has a wide diversity of bird life. Its vegetation includes the red and green madroña, nearly a dozen kinds of oaks, the southernmost aspens in America, junipers, pines, pions and the weeping cedar that occurs in few parts of the United States.

Congress has passed a resolution authorizing the national parks service to accept this area as a national park when it can be turned over to them in fee simple.

To be able to give title, the state of Texas will have to acquire ownership, in part by purchase and in part by legislation, as there is considerable state school land included in the district.

Land in Missouri farms declined by 1,000,000 acres in the decade ended in 1930.

'Ding,' President's 'Bad Boy,' Returns to His Drawing Board

Washington (AP)—Jay Norwood Darling "Ding," to the followers of his cartoons, has been the "Peck's Bad Boy" of the Roosevelt administration during his two years as chief of the biological survey.

He has upset all forms of governmental procedure and bowled over opposition like an All-American back. He was a member of the Republican national committee and of the Hoover nominating committee in 1932, then served in a Democratic administration as head of one of its principal government bureaus.

Reorganized Bureaus.
"Ding" took the job, he says, because he saw an opportunity to give the nation's wildlife a new lease on its old haunts and breeding grounds while spending some of the government's relief billions to provide jobs for the unemployed.

Once in office, he reorganized his bureau completely. He put in his strong bid for federal funds, equipment and men, with the ultimate aim of reclaiming for wildlife some of its natural breeding and nesting areas and providing a multitude of preserves and refuges where they would be safe from hunters' guns.

Can Swear Eloquently.
"Ding" is 53 years old, weighs 165 pounds, is five feet ten inches tall, smokes cigarettes incessantly, can swear eloquently and vigorously on occasion, was once kicked out of college for drawing cartoons of faculty members, loves to hunt and fish and accordingly has been an agitator for wildlife conservation for 30 years, collects fine books and is an expert amateur gardener.

He paints in oil or water color and makes fine etchings on an old stereotyping press and can sketch with either hand, having learned to draw with his left after his right became temporarily paralyzed about 10 years ago as the delayed result of a boyhood accident.

Jay N. "Ding" Darling made contact out of the bureau of biological survey "red tape."

RIFTON.

Rifton, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Henry Weeber has just returned to her home on Maple street after spending a few days at the home of her daughters in Jersey.

Mrs. Stone and daughter, Marion, also Bill Conant all of Brooklyn spent Armistice day at the home of the Misses Schikler.

Eric Winkler motored to New York and returned last week-end.

Mrs. Graham Davis is entertaining her two young brothers from Yonkers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Freda Eckert Wednesday of last week. Plans were discussed for giving a play in the very near future. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and it was very gratifying to have such a large number turn out for the meeting. Next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Edith Yake, Wednesday evening, December 4.

Miss Sadie Fridman and Miss Eleanor Feiber motored to New York city and returned Sunday of last week. Robert Aronstein, who recently joined the Theatre Guild in Kingston, has been given one of the leading roles in their coming play.

George Clement, Mr. Blum and Mr. Pollard all of New York city, who came up for the hunting season, spent several days at the home of the Misses Schikler.

Claude Davis has returned to his home here after being employed at Lake Mohonk all summer.

The Rock School Fife and Drum Corps took part in the Armistice Day celebration held in Rosendale.

The Wednesday afternoon bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Sanford Phillips last week.

Miss Jusula, Remus spent the week-end at the home of Frances Diamond in Kingston.

son, Robert, of Orange, N. J. spent the Armistice holiday at the home of their parents Mr. & Mrs. Frank Osterhout on Maple street.

Andrew Small and his two sons, of Brooklyn, spent the week-end at their home here.

Mrs. Harry J. Eckert spent Tuesday of last week at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Van Kesterhout in Dushville.

Sunday school will meet next week at the usual hour 2 o'clock, pre-church service following immediately thereafter, the pastor Mr. Baines officiating. Everybody welcome.

Gigantic Task
Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The writing of government checks has become a gigantic task as the billions pour out in the relief and recovery programs. Thousands of federal employees are doing nothing else but issuing checks to the army of people wholly or partially dependent on the government. Such checks, including farm benefit payments, total almost 4,000,000 a month. The figure does not include the stipends of about a million government employees who are paid cash. Machinery is used in much of the check-writing. Under ideal conditions a clerk can average 1,000 checks a week including examining vouchers, proof reading, check writing, and mailing, but the general level of production is less than that.

'EAT MORE,' CHORUS GIRLS TOLD

Discovering that his chorines were losing weight from the daily grind of "high-stepping," LeRoy Prinz, film dance director, issued an order to "eat hearty" so that they retain the alluring curves that are now the style. He installed a chart and scales for daily checks and here is shown "weighing in" Gebeva Hall and Dolly Jarvis. (Associated Press Photo)

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Otto Kruger, a philosophical fellow, apparently has decided to quit worrying about what Hollywood — or London — asks him to do in the way of acting.

When he first came here from the New York stage, Kruger often expressed surprise, and no little dismay, at the roles he was given. A mature actor, he confessed feeling a bit silly at the unexpected business of playing romantic young men with smooth make-up and wavy hair. Eventually, he was allowed to "grow up" from that category, and play more mature romantics.

"But I still never know what to expect," he said the other day. "I received one script in which I was to play a character who, so far as the writer intimated, was just a name."

"And then there's this one I'm to do in England. When I read the script, I couldn't imagine why they wanted me for it. Somerset Maugham wrote the story ('The Tenth Man') and he described the character completely. An Englishman in the first place, and then physically a man whom I resemble in no way. I rejected it, convinced there was some mistake. But finally I learned that the description didn't matter, they were going to change that. One day I hit on the solution — they wanted an actor of the 'Counselor-at-Law' type — and they knew I had done that role on the stage!"

When you consider that Otto Kruger is going to England to play an Englishman in a movie — and he's the first major American actor to do that — it seems poetically just. For this reason:

Two or three years ago Otto Kruger and Samuel Raphaelson, the playwright, got together on an idea for a play. Raphaelson had the idea with Kruger in mind.

But Kruger was under contract to MGM, and the studio would not release him to do the play. Raphaelson finally went to England, brought back an English actor, and opened his show on Broadway. Ultimately, in Hollywood, Kruger did the role "second-hand" on the stage. But Herbert Marshall already had been cast for it in the movie version of "Accent on Youth."

Greene Again Heads Foreign War Veterans

John H. L. Green was re-elected commander of Joyce-Schrick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the annual meeting held at the Dugout on East Chestnut street last night. Martin Oulton and Henry J. Diehl were elected senior and junior vice-commanders respectively.

The following other officers were chosen: E. J. Wortman, quartermaster; Martin O'Brien, officer of the day; George McCullough, chaplain; Dr. C. B. J. Mittelstaedt, post surgeon; Judge Joseph M. Fowler, post advocate. The following delegates were chosen for the Hudson Valley County Council: E. J. Wortman, B. V. Roach, John McCullough. Alternates are George McCullough, Peter Norton and Martin Oulton. Joseph Parkes was elected trustee for three years.

LESS DEER BUT ABOUT SAME NUMBER MEN KILLED

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—The deer hunting season in New York state came to a close today with a total of 16 persons killed and 54 others thus far reported injured in hunting accidents. The toll of the 1934 season was 17 killed and 55 wounded.

Figures on the number of deer killed will not be available at the State Conservation Department before the end of the month, but reports from the Adirondack and Catskill regions indicate that the total kill will be considerably below last year's acceptable of approximately 10,000.

Weather conditions during the month were believed responsible for smaller kill. The season has been unusually warm and the foliage has remained on the trees, effectively camouflaging the deer. Lack of snow has made it difficult to follow a trail.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway "The Return of Peter Grimm." One of the most popular stage attractions in theatre history becomes a fine motion picture in this Broadway film that stars Lionel Barrymore in his most sympathetic characterization. Cast as Peter Grimm, an old fellow who directs and plans the lives of others. It isn't until he is dead that he realizes the error in his judgment. Through his failure on earth, his plans wreck the love of a boy and girl. So Peter Grimm returns, a happy, unseeing presence, and through his efforts, the love he almost smashed blooms brighter than ever. Brilliant photographic treatment plus the capabilities of the players makes this show worth the whole family's time. Helen Mack, Donald Meek and Edward Ellis are featured. "Excuse My Glove," with Jack Doyle, is an added feature of the program.

Orpheum "Together We Live" and "Stone of Silver Creek." Diversified double feature constitutes the Orpheum entertainment, the first a problem story with Ben Lyon featured. The second offering stars Buck Jones in a reliable thriller of the western school of melodrama. "Kingston 'Fighting Youth' and 'Old Man Rhythm.' Charles Farrell, the familiar co-partner of Janet Gaynor, is the main character in the opening drama, a story of youth and youth problems. Andy Devine, June Martel and J. Farrell MacDonald are also in the cast. "Old Man Rhythm" brings Charles Buck Rogers back to the screen after a long absence in a dancing, singing entertainment that occasionally has its moments.

Tomorrow Broadway "Rendezvous." Here's a dramatic thunderbolt, alive with action, mystery, intrigue and romance. So fast paced is this tangle that the audience will be swept along in a current of mystifying events and William Powell, the star of the film, is shown to best possible advantage in a racy role that fits his talents to perfection. It's a spy story centering around the war, a tale of the secret police and their methods of attaining factual data of great importance to the nations they work for. Into the thick of it is William Powell, surrounded by danger and he walks his suave and entertaining way through one of the most absorbing melodramas of the year. The show also gives Rosalind Russell a chance to show her ability, a thing she does so convincingly that she almost steals the honors away from the star. Also in the cast are to be found the talented Blinn Barnes, Cesar Romero, Henry Stephenson and Lionel Atwill. This production has an all around appeal, sprinkled as it is with gay humor and moments of suspense. A swell bit of movie entertainment, well worth seeing.

Orpheum: Same. Kingston: "The Crusades." Cecil B. DeMille, master producer of motion picture extravaganzas, turns again to history for his latest gigantic enterprise and brings a story of the Crusades to the screen that is a combination of fact and fiction, carefully blended into another DeMille masterpiece of spectacle and lavishness. To be honest the story is rather trite as it describes the love affair of Richard the Lion Hearted, who takes his Crusaders to the Holy Land to avoid a marriage distasteful to him. While there he marries Princess Berengaria, but the ruler of the Saracens, one Saladin, captures the princess, and a gigantic battle ensues. These battle scenes are as lively as any ever thrown on a screen and the photography throughout the whole play is beautiful. The whole picture is pageantry at its best and a cast of many thousands all help create the atmosphere of strength and breadth that the play possesses in great quantity. Henry Wilcoxon, Loretta Young, Katherine DeMille, Montague Love, Joseph Schildkraut and William Farnum are all featured. But Jan Kietel as Saladin, gives the finest performance in the picture. His is a brilliant characterization and an added bright spot in an already fine production.

Americans In Manila Pessimistic On New Philippine Commonwealth

By EDWARD E. DOMAR.

Manila (P).—The Filipino leaders are confident they will make a success of the Philippine Commonwealth government to be established November 15, whatever the outlook for complete independence 10 years hence, but some well informed Americans and foreigners are pessimistic.

While all public expressions are of the sweetness and light order, privately even some of the outstanding Filipinos admit qualms. "The odds are heavily against the commonwealth," a high American official said privately. "But there still is a chance for success."

Disorder Threats Seen.

"Every surface augury is favorable. The budget is balanced, and right at the outset of the new regime there is a $12,500,000 windfall from the United States, representing nine months proceeds of the 1934 American excise tax on Philippine coconut oil. This about half the insular government's annual budget."

The problems, as outlined by another American official who because of his position could not permit the use of his name, are chiefly economic, but also involve public order. "Everybody who knows the real situation is worried over the possibility of violence from extremist followers of General Emilio Aguinaldo because of their belief they were defrauded in the September 17 election," he said earnestly.

Anti-Quezon Plots Fanned.

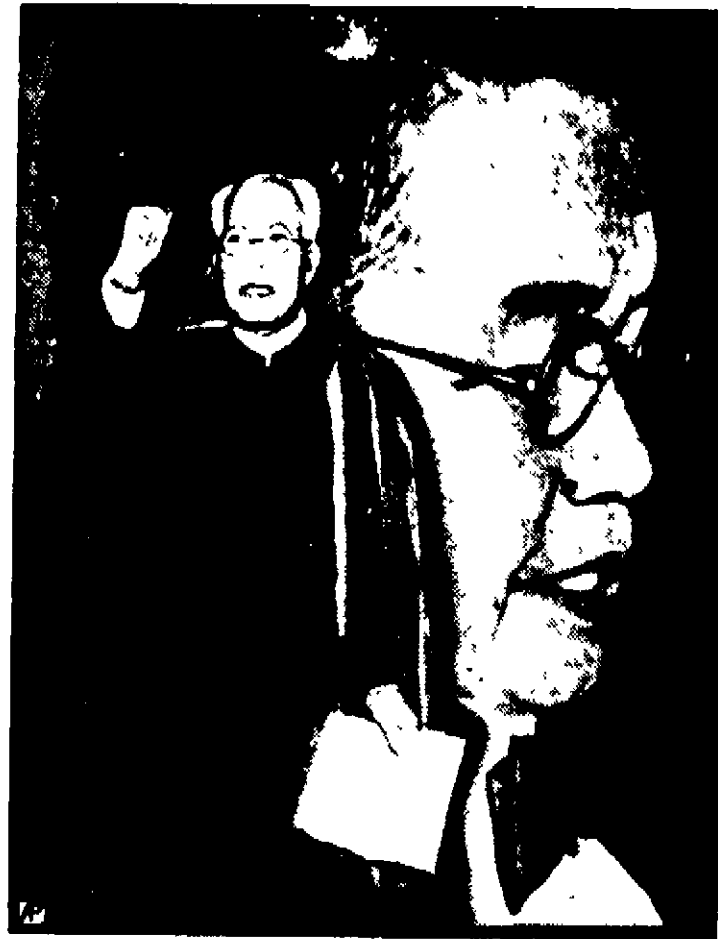

"We know there have been one or more actual plots already to assassinate President-elect Manuel Quezon."

"Aguinaldo and Bishop Gregorio Aglipay polled a third as many votes as Quezon in an election shot through with frauds, yet they have not a single voice in the national assembly of 98 members."

"That is a dangerous political situation. And there is no new assembly election for three years and the next presidential election is six years hence."

"The Filipinos are undertaking to organize an army, under the direction of General Douglas MacArthur. That may cost millions."

"Quezon has announced he favors

Under surface threats against the stability of the new commonwealth government of the Philippines are causing qualms in Manila. Much of the explosive force revolves around the two men whom Manuel Quezon defeated for the presidency, Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, erstwhile insurrectionist (right), and Bishop Gregorio Aglipay, head of an independent Catholic sect.

government help for private industry, opening the possibility of financial difficulties like the World War period, when the Filipinos were in control.

Business Ability Lacking.

"Quezon is absolutely without experience as an administrator, whatever his record as a political leader. The restraining influence of an American governor general and auditor, removed from local political pressure because they were responsible only to the President of the United States, will be gone."

"It was the governor general's pruning knife that kept the budget balanced all those years."

"Meanwhile the duty-free American market, the whole basis of Philippine economy, already has been partially closed under the Tydings-McDuffie independence act and five years hence further onerous restrictions will be progressively imposed. There is not a single Filipino business man of the first order. Every major enterprise is in the hands of Americans or foreigners. How can you have a successful nation without business men?"

"The Japanese will have economic control in a few years."

Ingenious Youth Builds

Motor Coaster Wagon

Annabula, Ohio.—At the cost of $3.50 to cash, three rabbits and a radio battery eliminator traded shrewdly, Ronald Rylance obtained an old washing machine motor and built an automobile.

Ronald lengthened the wheel-base of his coaster wagon to 5 feet, mounted the one-cylinder motor in a snap box behind the driver's seat and attached a belt to the axle.

The automobile, christened "The Flying Arrow," is said to have a top speed of 20 miles an hour. It is the envy of the neighborhood.

Playful Goats Get

Cost of Everybody

Tacoma, Wash.—Eight goats got everybody's goat and the owner of the goats got Judge Frank A. Magill's goat.

The real goats got in an ornate built wood and climbed all over the automobiles of the city causing one parked near a city dump.

In police court, the owner of the athletic goats, Joe Brown, was ordered to remove them from the city limits in accordance with a city law which prohibits keeping more than two goats.

ETIQUETTE AT THE TABLE

BE CORRECT IF YOU VALUE SOCIAL STANDING

"Charm takes a holiday" might be the title of this picture. Because it shows how ungraceful it usually is to do the wrong thing at table, and how quickly some little social slip can give you away.

See how that girl is distracting attention away from her own charming self—by slipping her coffee with such a flourish. She doesn't know that she shouldn't use her spoon for drinking coffee, that it should be used just for stirring.

Then see what she's doing with that olive pit. This woman ignores her bread-and-butter plate and drops the pit into an ash tray. Ashes, olive pits, cigarette stubs—ugh! What a sight she is forcing on her fellow guests.

Last—there's an innocent stalk of celery being forced into a messy mix-up with salt on the tablecloth.

The quaint old custom of putting salt on the tablecloth dates back to the days before the bread-and-butter plate.

Today, when you wish to salt celery or radishes, put the salt on your bread-and-butter plate. If you do not have one, then put the salt on the edge of your soup plate or your dinner plate, and dip your celery in to this. It is permissible because it isn't unsightly—that's one of the surest tests for table manners. Nobody enjoys eating while gazing upon an untidy sight. And—celery dabbed into salt on the tablecloth is just plain horrid.

So many little table niceties to remember! So comforting not to have to hesitate over whether to refuse or accept a dish that you don't like; how to unfold your dinner napkin; whether to dip the fingers of one hand or two into your finger-bowl; or some other puzzlement.

Our 40-page Home Institute booklet, ETIQUETTE FOR EVERY DAY, makes many such vital little points clear in an amazingly simple, interesting way. Table manners, the hostess and her guests, introductions, invitations, popularity, taste in dress, girls and men, manners in public—these are just a few of its many helpful topics. For more graceful, gracious living, you'll certainly want this booklet's helpful guidance.

SLIM LINE COAT FROCK FLATTERS THE "FORTY-SIX"—SAYS MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9648

A coat-frock's admirably suited to your needs if you've very little time for prettying up in the morning; slenderizing, too, if you're forty-odd. Slip it on as you would a coat, without mussing a hair, button and tie it securely, and you're due to feel cool, calm and collected the rest of the day. There's just nothing like surplus lines for surplus pounds, while a deep wrap solves the petticoat question. Ric-rac braid again comes into its own—and provides a crisp edging 'round collar, sleeves and front lap. A brightly dotted percale or broadcloth like its ric-rac to re-echo one color of the print. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9648 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric, and 6 yards edging.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Send today for our PATTERN BOOK FOR FALL AND WINTER! See how easily and thriftily you can make attractive clothes for yourself and family, and what lovely yet simple gifts you can make for Christmas. To Be Valued Through the Years

PATTERN 3475

"It's no hard to think of what to give a man?" How many times have you heard that lament, or even made it yourself? Alice Brooks has come to your rescue with two knitted scarves and a crocheted tie. The scarves are wonderfully soft and not at all bulky—the sort of thing that would be sold at a high price in a shop. The tie—made entirely in a ribbon skirt—is in one color with a band in which a second color is introduced. The other scarf is in a simple basket-weave pattern with contrasting stripes. The tie is just plain crocheted with broken stripes of color giving a smart design. As it's a shaped tie, it will make a real knot.

In Pattern 3475 you will find complete instructions for making the articles shown, color suggestions, material requirements, illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 14 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 222 W. 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

CROCHET CROWNS YOUR COSTUME

Don't you like to have smart accessories that you can change about to suit your costume—or to match your mood? If so, you will surely want to crochet this clever "Tyrolean" hat, for its flexible crown can be draped in several ways. Some days you will wear it with the bright feather—others you may prefer a clip—or you may choose just a simple ribbon band. The decorative stripes trimming the brim are in an easy raised stitch; you will use the same design on the large square bag which swings from your wrist on its smart corded handle. You will find a lot of fun in making hat and bag, and even more in wearing them all through the winter days. The Alice Brooks pattern gives detailed instructions, illustrates the set and the stitches, and gives material requirements. Send 10 cents for pattern Y5473 to Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Department, 222 West 11th Street, New York, N. Y.

GAS MASK ENDURANCE

LATEST FAD IN VIENNA

Vienna (AP)—Now that gas masks have become household equipment in many European homes persons with a passion for endurance records have conceived a new contest.

Flagpole sitting is outmoded, and the question of the moment is "how long can a human being wear a gas mask?"

Russian soldiers started it. In tests they have worn masks continuously for 20 hours while performing routine military duties.

Individuals in Austria and Hungary have made unsubstantiated claims of having worn the cumbersome masks several days. Contestants did not explain whether they cheated a few minutes to eat.

Haile Selassie Rightful Ruler, Says Ex-Tutor

By CHARLES FOLTZ

Paris (AP).—Emperor Haile Selassie's right to the imperial crown of Ethiopia is backed by a Parisian doctor who taught the king of kings how to speak and read French.

Doctor Vitalien, for seven years personal physician and advisor to Menelik II, backs his testimony with a photograph showing Haile Selassie sitting at Menelik's right hand during a court function.

"Menelik always intended the throne to go to Haile Selassie, his grandnephew, instead of his grandson, Lij Yasu," Dr. Vitalien said. "He knew Lij Yasu was unfit for the throne and while I sat by his deathbed his friends were burying the imperial crown."

Uncrowned Emperor Unfit
"Lij Yasu, although he reigned for three years, never was crowned. When I left Ethiopia a year after Menelik's death all the work Menelik had done was crumbling under Yasu's misrule."
Lij Yasu was deposed by public proclamation in 1916 when Zauditu, daughter of Menelik, was proclaimed empress and Haile Selassie, then Ras Tafari of Shoa, was named regent and heir to the throne.

Dr. Vitalien sailed for Djibouti from Marseille in 1926, but before he arrived in the French port word of his coming had reached Menelik II. Menelik, the first Ethiopian ruler to attempt to modernize his domain, had little faith in the incantations of native doctors and sent Vitalien an imperial invitation.

Seven Years in Palace

The French doctor accepted and lived for seven years in the imperial palace, acting as personal physician and advisor to Menelik.

"When I first knew little Tafari," said the doctor, explaining that "Tafari" was Haile Selassie's familiar name in the palace, "he was scarcely three years old."

"After he had learned Amharic from his native teachers the emperor turned him over to me and I taught him to read and write French. When I left he was almost bilingual and I hear he speaks well even now."

NOMADS SHIFT FRONTIER OF FRENCH SOMALILAND

Paris (AP).—The southern frontier of Ethiopia and French Somaliland, the tricolor's lone pawn in northeast Africa, "moves with the Danakils." Many African borders are defined only by tribes. When France signed her border treaty with the Emperor Menelik, it was agreed that Ethiopia's territory would include the Danakils.

But the Danakils are constantly on the move, carrying the frontier with them. The colonial office here admitted that when French troops drove back the Danakil tribesmen after a border incident, they were extending France's colony.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Nov. 14.—Don Putnam, nephew of Mrs. W. O. Thompson, had a narrow escape in the Miami hurricane. He was found hanging to his overturned boat, then he and his rescuer were stranded on an island waist deep in water. Finally they were taken to safety by a search party from the W. K. Vanderbilt yacht.

Gardner Mulloy, popular tennis player and winner of a number of tournaments in this neighborhood, has just been crowned city tennis champion of Miami, Fla. He defeated the former champion in straight sets 6-2, 7-5, 6-4. He also shared the doubles championship.

The library book committee met at the library on Monday. The meeting ended with a pleasant tea. Mrs. Thompson as the hostess.

The new stove in the library has been installed and is proving very satisfactory.

The first rehearsal of the Woodstock Community Players' December production was held on Tuesday.

On Friday evening Firemen's Hall will be the scene of the second annual dance held by the Junior Athletic Club.

Cost of maintaining individuals in the Missouri penitentiary amounts to $225 per year.

'John Doe' Benefits Indirectly From Risky Stratosphere Flight

Washington (AP).—The man in the street stands to gain something more than a vicarious thrill from the fact that a huge balloon carried Captain Albert W. Stevens and Captain Orril Anderson to a new high in a mysterious zone called the stratosphere.

One benefit of stratosphere flying to "John Doe" is the possibility of more definite information on whether to take his umbrella with him to work and whether to put anti-freeze in the auto radiator. Knowledge gathered of winds and air currents at great heights are considered important to more accurate weather forecasting.

New Light On Bacteria

On the 1934 flight it was found that at one level the wind was blowing at a rate of 70 miles an hour, and other unexpected weather features were discovered. While such peculiarities would have only an indirect effect on weather at the surface of the earth, meteorologists believe that only by studying such phenomena can more accurate weather forecasting be done.

Dr. Lyman Briggs sees in the spore studies a possibility of new light on the lives and distribution of bacteria causing human and plant diseases. A tube with a sticky coating on the inside was dropped from the highest altitude of the flight, collecting spores on the sticky substance. When the tube reached the bottom of the stratosphere it was automatically sealed.

Doctor Briggs is director of the national bureau of standards and chairman of the scientific advisory committee of the National Geographic society-army air corps stratosphere flight.

From this experiment it is hoped to discover if spores live at the rarefied heights and if they are similar to those lower down.

Flying There Impractical

Mr. Doe isn't going to catch the "stratosphere express" for London, though, until a good deal more is added to the sum of flying knowledge. "At the present time it wouldn't be possible to build planes capable of commercial service in the higher parts of the stratosphere," said Doctor Briggs.

"By building a stripped plane just light enough to get up there, aviators have taken the heavier-than-air ships up close to 45,000 feet. But thus far airplanes have not been developed to the point where a large ship, carrying a pay load and sufficient fuel for long hops, can be built.

parts of the stratosphere," said Doctor Briggs.

"Theoretically ideal. "From the standpoint of transportation, the stratosphere is ideal in theory, however, its thinner air would make for great speeds." Airplane designers now have in view the building of planes which will fly normally at about 15,000 feet and one commercial airline has its pilots fly regularly at 10,000 feet.

refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed, bringing to a close a magical evening long to be remembered.

Legion Safety Campaign.
New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—The first meeting of a public safety committee to "direct and coordinate" a campaign by the New York state American Legion to reduce automobile accidents was called here today. The committee was appointed last night by State Commander Edward N. Scheiberling of Albany who said the Legion "accepted" the "challenge" of increased automobile fatalities.

Hungary Figures Divorce Rate.

Mrs. Knauth graciously invited all to the dining room, where dainty song by Mrs. Dunbar was fully appreciated. "The Birds," a coloratura number sung by Mrs. Wolfersteig, Mr. Spross also heard sung for the first time. This hitting tune with his bird like cadenzas was well named. Mrs. Cubberley had the honor of being the third person to play the sonata. The first performance was given at the Art Gallery in Woodstock and the second over the WGY radio net work. The first and second movements were played. The song cycle written in Oriental vein was inspired by poems of Arabia by Elizabeth Evelyn Moore. Mr. Spross humorously remarked that having never visited Arabia he hoped he had captured some of the spirit of the east. He complimented the group on their splendid musicianship and team work and said it had been a pleasure to work with them.

At the completion of the program Mr. Spross graciously consented to play some piano solos. "Prelude in B Minor," "Barcarolle in F" and "Song Without Words" (for left-hand alone) were played to the delight of the audience.

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—It was all a false alarm, that report that the WJZ-NBC light opera for November 30 was going amateur by putting on a "stars of the future" broadcast. Instead, there will be an opera after all, with Jimmy Melton and Jane Froman staging "Stars Over Broadway."

Listeners of the Sunday broadcasts by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, in giving their favorite choices for composers, living and deceased, have picked Beethoven and Beethoven, with Ravel as second living choice. As a result, the orchestra in its 100th CBS broadcast December 1, will play a Beethoven and Ravel program, followed by an all-Sibelius concert the next Sunday, which is the Finnish composer's 70th anniversary. That broadcast also will be shortwaved to Finland.

Relief Results in Palisades Park Is Outlined by Director

The amazing efficiency of the New York state TERA and what was done with $10,830,394.13, in relief funds in the Palisades Interstate Park, comprising that section from Bear Mountain through the Palisades on the Hudson River, was described to members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon, when Frederick Sutro, director of the park, spoke concerning the relief results in the park.

The use of relief labor in the park section, stated Mr. Sutro, began in the fall of 1932, when the TERA in New York city found difficulty in discovering projects for those on relief and the park officials were approached concerning possible use of labor for park improvement.

Park officials welcomed the opportunity to use relief labor because reduced revenues from concessions in the park had brought the income to a dangerously low figure, which had made it necessary to curtail certain activities in the park.

The first use of relief labor was in October, 1932, with 1,000 men making daily trips by train from New York city to the park to work. This plan and work appeared so practical that in the following winter the Welfare Council of New York city approached the park of officials and requested that men using the Bowery "flophouses" be given a place to live and work in the park area. An abandoned rifle range was used to house some 25 men, and the men themselves built makeshift stoves and put the range mess hall in shape for winter living. Mr. Sutro said that this group was enlarged to 200 men later, and that the plan was so successful, that he believed that President Roosevelt received the idea for the CCC camps from this project, which were inaugurated at a later date.

The TERA was gratified that the park plan for relief workers was proving so successful, and asked that provisions be made to put to work men on relief from Yonkers. This was done and the men were sent to work in the New York state section of the park. The CCC camps were then authorized and as time passed 11 camps were established in the New York state section of the park and one in New Jersey. With the inception of the CWA to put men to work the man power in the park was again stepped up and at the peak there were 10,000 men working on relief in the park area.

At this time Mrs. Roosevelt became interested in the park and soon a girls' camp was established and since the camp was begun some 1,500 young women have lived there. "During the past month, the TERA was disbanded and the present WPA took the work over in both the New York and New Jersey sections of the park. It is too early as yet to form a definite opinion as to the success that will be met under the WPA set-up," said the speaker.

Mr. Sutro explained that the park was well suited to the use of relief labor, that plans had been on hand for many years listing improvements contemplated when funds became available. He stated that the plan reached a definite end and that when they have been completed the plan will be finished so that the park will serve the people to the best advantage and yet not be too expensive a burden on the taxpayers. The end of the plans is now in sight, said the speaker.

Mr. Sutro closed with a list of the things accomplished in the park, the erection of buildings, the making of artificial lakes, the providing of bathing beaches, the clearing and improving of marsh and wooded lands, and the completion of the Perkins Memorial Highway, cut in many places from solid rock. He also lauded the gift of lands atop the Palisades to the park by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Most of the relief funds went in wages, stated the speaker.

Mr. Sutro said in closing, "It is a source of deep satisfaction to the Commissioners and to their organization that they enjoyed the confidence of the New York State TERA and of other relief agencies with which they cooperated, so that they have been enabled to expend the large sums which were available to them for innumerable improvements that were made possible in the Palisades Interstate Park, and to feel that every dollar so expended has brought two dollars' worth of returns—one dollar's worth of improvement and one dollar's worth of relief to the needy men who found their health and morale in the wholesome and constructive work which they were given the opportunity to do in the Palisades Interstate Park."

China's Army Wears Striped Socks (AP)—Canton-topped, rubber-soled shoes are regulation for most units of China's army. Straw sandals and cloth-bottomed slippers are not uncommon in the interior, but only a few crack units boast leather boots.

At Last—a Soft Fabric that wears well

You have no idea how difficult it is to weave a soft, fleecy, luxurious overcoat fabric that will wear well. But that is what you get in a Winter-tex Overcoat. The reason for its good wearing quality is visible through a microscope as explained below.

If you looked at Winter-tex fabric through a powerful microscope you would see only the long fibers of pure virgin wool and the long fibers of luxurious Angora. No short strands are used. You would see how these long fibers on the outer surface of the yarn intertwine and form a natural loop say that does not wear off easily.

Ethiopian's Retreat Bombed Heavily Today By Italian Aviators

By ANDRUE BERDING

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)
Makale, Ethiopia, 3 p. m., Nov. 14—The Ethiopian line of retreat south of Amba Alaji was bombed heavily today by Italian military planes, one major enemy encampment being virtually destroyed.

Italian pilots sighted the Ethiopian troop encampment outside Antalo, an important market center midway between the front lines of Makale and Amba Alaji, about 30 miles to the south.

The Ethiopians, including khaki-clad regular soldiers, ran into the town at the approach of the squadron, trying for escape on the Italian practice of not bombarding civil populations.

The Italian planes used heavy bombs in their assault on the encampment itself, virtually wiping it out.

To the east of the main lines, General Mariotti's column of native Eritrean Askari and wild Danakil warriors, advancing toward Asbi along a narrow mountain pass and through a gully, ran into an ambush, set by from 500 to 1,000 Ethiopians.

The Ethiopians, hidden on the slopes, opened merciless fire on the Italians with machine guns.

General Mariotti's men, deploying and taking cover, settled down to the laborious process of encircling and seeking to dislodge the enemy's machine gun nests.

The operation was most difficult, the extremely rough bush making arduous going for the Italian troops seeking to reach a more favorable position.

The battle lasted all day. Toward evening, the Ethiopians dispersed and retreated over a 10,000-foot ridge to the west, leaving 55 dead and uncounted number of wounded.

General Mariotti then was able to occupy Asbi, just east of Makale, but he was still separated from General Ruggero Santini's column in Makale by a mountain.

The supplies a commissary detachment had brought up for Santini's Blackshirts were loaded into an airplane from which they were dropped on Makale by small parachutes.

On the Italian side, 20 Askari were killed and four Italian officers wounded in the Asbi encounter.

Forces Flee

Asbi, Ethiopia, Nov. 15 (AP)—An Ethiopian force which battled Colonel Mariotti's Danakil command all day yesterday fled overnight toward the south.

Four Italian officers were wounded and 20 of their native troopers were killed by hot rifle and machine gun fire from the slopes of the hills near this village.

The Ethiopians left 55 dead behind them when they retreated.

The fleeing force was reported hurrying toward the main Ethiopian body between Antalo and Amba Alaji, trying to avoid being squeezed between the northbound column under the command of General Ruggero Santini and the pursuing Danakils.

The screaming Danakils, still half savage despite their incorporation as a military body under Italian officers, charged up the hillside here only to be met by machine gun fire.

The Fascist forces replied to the campaign of swift Ethiopian raids with renewed bombing attacks.

One squadron, roaring south from Makale, detected an Ethiopian troop encampment outside Antalo, important market center half-way down the line of march to Amba Alaji, 30 miles to the south, and literally blasted it out of existence.

The Ethiopian campers—some of them khaki-clad regular troops—apparently escaped safely from the raid, fleeing into Antalo and relying on the Italians not to bomb civilians.

The Addis Ababa government reported in an official communique that another air raid on the southern front brought half a hundred bombs down on Daggah Bur, contested town mid-way between Gorrageh and the vital points of Jijiga and Harar.

One priest died under the assault, the Ethiopian government communique said, and a church was levelled by fire.

Stand Against Sanctions

Rome, Nov. 15 (AP)—Fascist Italy settled down to its final stand against economic sanctions today, considering their imposition inevitable despite reports that Pope Pius sought and hoped for a postponement of application of the measures.

"Buy Italian" and "no profiteering" went hand in hand as the Fascist slogans, with only two days remaining for possible negotiations before League of Nations states launch their boycott and embargo on key products against Italy.

Two Rome shops were closed for charging prices higher than those established by the Fascist organization for food. Similar action was taken in a number of provincial cases.

Merchants set up signs in their windows reading: "We sell only national products."

Talk of an Italian boycott on foreign goods crept into the columns of the Italian press, despite the desire of the Fascist high command that the anti-sanctions campaign take the more positive form of buying Italian products.

The way was still open for other countries to change their attitude, as a result of Premier Mussolini's protest in the individual nations against applications of sanctions, but it once again was pointed out that the only others what they do unto him.

Speakers for informed quarters spoke more often of an eventual "arrangement" for settlement of the crisis, whatever might come of the Pope's reported efforts to delay sanctions or of the diplomatic conversations between Il Duce and ambassadors.

Many looked for a decisive battle in East Africa to crush the Ethiopian defense and enable Italy to solve its territorial problems by taking the land in dispute between the two nations.

No Hub of Culture Hailing.

Hoston, Nov. 15 (AP)—The names of two president's sons—James Roosevelt and John Coolidge—are absent from the 1936 edition of the Boston social register, just published. Coolidge's name was in the 1935 register but Roosevelt's was not. Mrs. John W. Attridge, the register's local correspondent, ventured the information, however, that Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt would be included in the New York edition. Mrs. Grace Coolidge, John's mother, was listed.

County Court Ends Until Monday, 2 P. M.

Disposition of the William H. Seale case in county court through a plea of guilty to assault, third degree, after the case had been partially tried, brought the session to an end until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the trial of the criminal calendar cases will be resumed. The jury which had heard a portion of the testimony in the Seale case was excused until that time following the sentencing of Seale to a nine months' term in the county jail. He was charged with illegal relations with his 12-year-old niece, and the 22 year old negro took a plea after the testimony of the prosecution was partially in.

Jean Batten Is Safe, Forced Down Swamp

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 15 (AP).—Jean Batten, forced down at Praia Seca, Brazil, while on a flight to Rio De Janeiro, left for this city this morning in a Brazilian army plane, leaving her own damaged ship in a salt swamp.

The New Zealand aviator, first woman to fly alone over the South Atlantic had landed at Praia Seca, about 53 miles north of Rio De Janeiro, because of lack of fuel.

Three army planes had searched for her after she was hours overdue here following her departure from Natal early yesterday on the last leg of an England-to-Brazil flight.

The National Telegraph received a laconic message signed "Batten" at 7 a. m., saying she had been forced down—the first word that she was safe.

It was learned here the propeller of her plane was twisted as she landed in the swamps about four miles south of the town of Araruama.

Three army planes, directed by Col. Newton Braga took off immediately and picked up the woman flier, who was expected to arrive here this morning.

Philathea Class Play Was Big Success

Wednesday evening, November 13, the Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church presented a play entitled, "Sewing For The Heathen," which was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. This play was full of mirth and caused much laughter. The program was as follows: Music furnished by the young people's orchestra. They rendered many selections. Recitations, The Mustard Plaster and Mended, Mrs. E. T. Pratt Trio, Edward Safford, Adrian Cumberley and Charles Gumaer. They sang three popular songs much to the delight of their audience.

Home Week at St. James Church

The St. James M. E. Home Week continued with another fine service last evening which was attended by a large congregation.

The Rev. F. H. Neal, the last pastor to serve the church before the Rev. M. Carroll, was present and offered the prayer. The Rev. Mr. Neal is at present pastor of First M. E. Church at Middletown.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Ralph Houston, who lived in the St. James Parsonage during his early boyhood, when his father was the pastor of St. James. The Rev. Mr. Houston was in a reminiscent mood and referred to a number of very interesting events in his Kingston boyhood only about 30 years ago. He emphasized the fact that even the younger generation of which he is a member had seen many great changes. "We had moved a great distance," he said, "insofar as world changes were concerned." The Rev. Mr. Houston took for his text "This is the day which the Lord hath made." He opened with a reference to the experiences of Anne Morrow Lindbergh in her flying trip through the northern lands where she was constantly impressed with the contrast between accessibility and isolation of the peoples of various lands. The Rev. Mr. Houston carried the contrast between accessibility and isolation on into the fields of education, religion and other human relations, between the accessibility of human fraternity and the isolation of fratricide which led to the World War. The younger generation which has come on since the World War has grown to hate war.

He also carried the contrast on to wealth and poverty and also to the contrast between abundance of material things and the poverty of the spirit, which resulted in covetousness. The contrast between an available God and a selfish self.

This is the day of opportunity for us to meet these great challenges of present day life and give of ourselves the best we have.

Quezon Takes Over Rule Of People Today

Manila, P. I., Nov. 15 (AP)—Filipinos took over government of their own islands today, while 250,000 people celebrated the return of home rule.

Rumors of extremist uprisings failed to materialize as the crowd, said by officials to be the largest in insular history, gathered in a huge square facing the legislature building to watch inauguration of the Philippine commonwealth and elevation of Manuel Quezon to its presidency.

Both defeated candidates for the presidency—General Emilio Aguinaldo and Bishop Gregorio Aglipay—respectfully remained away from the ceremonies. Veterans of the revolt against Spain, which Aguinaldo led, also refrained from marching in the parade after the program had been completed.

Quezon, who accepted the presidency with a promise to govern conservatively and to avoid violent changes in the established order as his first official act, ordered all Philippine officials to "swear to accept the supreme authority of the United States in these islands and to maintain true faith and allegiance thereto."

He took command of insular forces, such as the constabulary and summoned the new unicameral national assembly to convene November 22.

The final official act of the day—and to Filipinos one of the most symbolic of all—was the entry of the dapper little president into ancient Malacanán palace as its first Filipino master.

Governor General Frank Murphy, who yesterday was sworn in as high commissioner to the commonwealth, turned the 300-year-old palace over to Quezon, but remained there as a guest with Vice-President John Nance Garner.

The inaugural ceremonies were witnessed by a large group of American guests, including Speaker of the House Joseph W. Parnes and a congressional delegation brought here at the expense of the new government.

Secretary of War George Dern read President Roosevelt's official proclamation for establishment of the transitional commonwealth, which is designed to lead to complete autonomy in a decade.

The Ulster County Firemen's Association To Meet in Kingston

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold a meeting Tuesday night, November 19, in the rooms of Welner Hose Co., at the central fire station, Kingston. The meeting, expected to be the most largely attended of any yet, will begin at 8 o'clock.

All members of Welner Hose Co. are asked to be on hand and members of the Association are asked to have their membership cards with them.

In addition to business matters several good speakers will be present to talk to the firemen. Following the usual custom a collection will be taken to help defray some of the expenses.

Any firemen who has served the required five years and obtained his exempt certificate is eligible to join the Association Tuesday night.

Close Inquest Into Death Of Henry Bush

The inquest held before Coroner Howard B. Humiston in the matter of the death of Henry Bush, late of Allaben, which was adjourned until today in order to locate any additional witnesses was closed today on the previous testimony. Mr. Bush, who lived alone, was struck by a truck operated by Bruce Cowan as he walked along the highway near the Log Cabin at Allaben on the night of September 7.

Bush was picked up and taken to his home by others who came on the scene and left on his porch where he was later found seriously injured by members of the Dutch family, who had been notified of the injuries to the man by the men who took him home. Mr. Bush later died on his way to the hospital after being treated by a doctor at his home.

On the previous hearing it was testified that other people had seen the scene just prior to the accident. The truck operated by Cowan is alleged to have struck or run over Bush as he lay on the roadway. A truck which had passed the scene a moment before had missed him and stopped while the occupants attempted to run back and notify the following truck but they were too late. One occupant testified he saw the second truck strike the man on the road and heard Bush scream as he was hit. All of the men who came to the scene testified at the prior hearing that they had not considered Bush seriously injured when they took him home.

Mrs. Edith Roosevelt Broke Hip in Fall

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of President Theodore Roosevelt, was confined to a hospital today because of a broken hip. She is 74 years old.

Dr. Richard Derby, her son-in-law and chief of staff at the hospital, and Dr. Mather Cleveland, New York specialist, said they were satisfied with her progress.

She was injured Wednesday night when she slipped on the floor of her Sagamore Hill home, where she lived with the former President until his death.

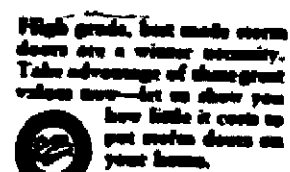

Mrs. Roosevelt had been in excellent health and only last September made a vigorous defense of the Constitution in a speech at a Republican women's meeting.

Police Seek Stretz Indictment Today

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—While authorities prepared to seek indictment of Miss Vera Stretz, pretty ash blonde, for murder in the slaying of Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, well-to-do German industrialist, police headquarters was informed today another woman had been questioned at Bethel, Conn., about the case.

A police teletype message said Mrs. Wilhelmina J. Dart of Bethel, mentioned in letters found in Miss Stretz's room in fashionable Seekman Towers, was unable to give any information about the accused young woman's affairs.

Mrs. Dart told Chief of Police Morris Britto of Bethel, the message said, merely that she had known Miss Stretz while both were students at New York University.

Meanwhile, the "mysterious blonde" brought into the case by police theories remained in the background of the investigation. Police found and questioned her after receipt of a trans-Atlantic telephone call from Baden Baden, Germany, where Gebhardt's wife and two children live. Her identity was not made known.

Miss Stretz, who was a part-time bookkeeper for Gebhardt's firm and who lived two floors below his apartment, is a prisoner in the house of detention.

The police theory is that the "mystery woman" accompanied Gebhardt on his return from Germany and aroused jealousy in Miss Stretz, who at one time had said she was his fiancée.

A letter written by him to Miss Stretz from Germany, translated by police today, was cited in support of the theory. It asked her not to meet the Europa, on which he returned last Friday.

Brasser Will Plead To Manslaughter Count

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—Glenn Brasser, 20, accused of the strange slaying of his 18-year-old high school sweetheart, will plead guilty to manslaughter, first degree, and ask the mercy of the court, his attorney, Maurice G. Lynn, announced today.

The plea is expected to be made before County Judge William C. Koylmetz. Lynn made the announcement after a conference last night with District Attorney Daniel J. O'Mara, who had planned to bring Brasser to trial next Monday on an indictment charging murder, second degree. The maximum sentence on the manslaughter charge is 20 years. Brasser was arrested in Monticello October 10, 24 hours after the body of Muriel Hall, attractive east high school student, was found in her home here. Brasser, police said, admitted he strangled the girl when she refused to marry him.

Broadway Theatre Acts Were Enjoyed

The five amateur acts at the Broadway Theatre Thursday were greatly enjoyed by the audience who encouraged the performers with generous applause for their efforts in entertaining to win a place on the Kingston Night program to be broadcast from WGY, Schenectady.

Next Thursday will be the last amateur contest, so those desiring to get a chance on the radio through the courtesy of the Broadway Theatre, the Rose & Gorman department store and the General Electric are advised to register early for a trial. Registration blanks may be had at the theatre or at the Rose & Gorman store. Local vocalists, musicians, dancers and all who can entertain in any way are encouraged to take part. Paul Zucca, master of ceremonies last night, gave a nice talk urging registration for the radio trial.

On last night's program were Miss Junita Anderson of Herzog's home service department, vocalist; Bob Connolly, organist, playing "You Are My Lucky Star"; Gladys Westervelt Avery, 15-year-old vocalist, singing "Lullaby of Broadway"; and "Check to Check"; Evelyn Busdegan, vocalist, singing "Double Trouble" and "Mr. Rhythm Man" with Mr. Clark at the piano; and the Melody Hill Billies from Ashokan.

TVA Hearing December 16
Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—In an effort to speed final decision, the government asked the Supreme Court today to hear arguments December 16 on constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley authority act.

Graves Warns Liquor Trade
New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mark Graves, state commissioner of taxation and finance, expressed fear today that actions of "certain unscrupulous elements within the liquor trade" might bring a return of prohibition. The commissioner, speaking at the national conference of state liquor administrators, said that "recent developments have served to substantiate my alarm."

He prefaced his talk with a statement that he believed control agencies doing a practical job in handling the liquor situation "than was the rule in the pre-prohibition era."

Although the production of food crops and cattle is increasing in North Carolina, the breeding of horses is falling behind.
